Gov. Edward Martin Inaugurated

New Governor Takes Oath Of Office At Noon

Ceremony Is Conducted Indoors For First Time In State's History

WEATHER CAUSES CHANGES OF PLANS

By JOHN PAGET
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

HARRISBURG, Jan. 19.—In the first wartime inaugural since 1864, Edward Martin, retired soldier, statesman and businessman, today was sworn in as the 35th chief executive of Pennsylvania in a simple, austere ceremony.

Precedent was broken as chief justice George W. Maxey of the state supreme court administered at 12:08 p. m. the oath of office indoors at the state forum, a small auditorium in the education building to which the ceremony had been transferred because of inclement weather. Previous governors had been inducted into office in front of the state capitol.

Inaugural Stand Bare

Today, however the graying bearded inaugural stand stood empty and bare. Its flags and pennants drooped from the rain. Instead of a throng of thousands, a few hundred managed to squeeze into the forum to watch the historic ceremony. Thousands, nevertheless, waited patiently before the inaugural stand, apparently unaware of the change in the program.

The colorful inaugural parade was a thing of the past, also, at least until after the war. In keeping with the times, the incoming governor asked that it be eliminated. The bands and parades that kept the capital in a turmoil until dark four years ago were absent today.

PA NEWS OBSERVES

Householders noted yesterday that bread which was purchased was un-sliced, the recent order of the government against selling sliced bread having become effective. Just another effect of war-time regulations.

For Victory IT TAKES BOTH 1. Taxes 2. War Bonds PLUS MORE WAR BONDS

It takes both. Warships and warplanes to clear the ocean of Nazi submarines. It takes both war bonds and victory taxes to beat the Axis. Buy more war bonds and stamps.

Another siege of winter appeared to be heading this way when the rain of the morning turned to snow and the temperature began dropping during the day.

Through an error, the name of Edwin C. Jessel, machinist mate second class, was left out of the names of city firemen, in whose honor a service flag has been erected at Central station.

We were told that those two flashes of lightning yesterday morning meant more cold weather. There is something about the temperature today that makes us think the saying isn't far wrong.

Daily Weather Report

United States weather statistics for the 24-hour period ending at 9 a. m. today are as follows:

Maximum temperature, 41.
Minimum temperature, 32.
Precipitation, .12 inches, rain and snow.

River stage, 10.2 feet.
Statistics for the same date a year ago, follow:
Maximum temperature, 59.
Minimum temperature, 39.
Precipitation, .24 inches.

Sanananda Is Captured By Allied Forces

Last Remaining Jap Stronghold In Papua Territory Of New Guinea Taken

JAPS APPARENTLY RESIST TO DEATH

By LEE VAN ATTA
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

UNITED NATIONS HEADQUARTERS, Jan. 19.—Capture by Allied forces of the village of Sanananda and Sanananda Point, last remaining Jap stronghold in the Papua territory of New Guinea, was announced today by a spokesman at Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters.

The successful thrust by American and Australian jungle fighters confined the remnants of an original Japanese force of 15,000 men to a coastal strip only 500 yards in length, north-west of the seaward end of the Sanananda track and in a small area between Giruwa and Tarakan to the southeast.

Japs Are Doomed
Inland at an undisclosed point two other small pockets of Japanese troops apparently determined to die rather than surrender are under attack, the communiqué said.

The fall of Sanananda came immediately after the Americans and Aussies overran Japanese defense positions at Cape Killerton and Wey Point. The enemy defenders were wiped out.

BLACK MARKET UNDER ATTACK

Prospect Of Lowered Meat Prices Is Held Out By Government

(International News Service)

The public faced today the prospect of lowered meat prices as a result of a fast-developing Office of Price Administration campaign to stamp out a black market which already has resulted in the issuance of warrants for nineteen wholesalers and small packers and 29 of their officers and employees in five eastern cities.

Promising additional arrests in the near future, Sylvan L. Joseph, regional OPA administrator in New York, said the prosecutions are the initial result of two weeks of intensive questioning of more than a thousand retail butchers.

Warrants were issued in New York for seven companies and 17 persons affiliated with them, in Newark for four companies and five individuals, in Pittsburgh for two companies and two individuals and in Philadelphia for one company and five individuals. A similar investigation in Boston brought charges against five wholesale firms.

PRESIDENT ORDERS MINERS TO RETURN TO JOBS AT ONCE

By EDWIN DARBY
International News Service Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—President Roosevelt today directed striking anthracite coal mine workers to return to their jobs immediately and declared that if this order is not followed out within 48 hours "Your Government will take the necessary step to protect" the interests of the nation in wartime.

The president, who issued the order in his capacity of commander-in-chief in wartime, sent identical telegrams to John L. Lewis, international president of the United Mine Workers union, and to 32 other local presidents and mine union leaders.

Following is the text of the President's telegram:
"On Friday, January 15, 1943, the national war labor board issued a directive order calling upon all miners on strike in the anthracite coal fields to return to work immediately. I have been informed that several thousand miners refused to obey the order of the war labor board and are still out on strike.

"In the interest of the war effort, all directive orders of the national war labor board must be complied with by all employers and all employees. Therefore, as commander-in-chief of the armed forces, I direct all miners in the anthracite coal fields who are now out on strike to return at once to their job of producing vitally needed coal for their country. If this order is not complied with in forty-eight hours, your government will take the necessary steps to protect the interests of the nation against a strike which is doing serious injury to the war effort."

In making public the President's telegram, the White House did not explain what further steps are being contemplated, but it was generally assumed that any further action would involve the calling out of troops to put the anthracite mines back into production.

The President's order followed by less than 2 hours the action of the war labor board in turning the anthracite dispute over to President Roosevelt for further action.

NAZI SUPPLY LINES BOMBED

Transportation In France And Shipping Off Dutch Coast Hit

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

LONDON, Jan. 19.—Royal Air Force fighter planes attacked freight trains and locomotives in offensive sorties over Nazi-held Northern France during the night, the air ministry announced today.

Hudson bombers attacked an Axis convoy off the Dutch coast, hitting three enemy supply ships.
Other members meanwhile mined enemy waters, the air ministry said. Air alerts were sounded shortly before midnight in Zurich and Basle, Switzerland, leading to the belief that the R. A. F. went over the continent to attack either southern Germany or northern Italy.

The trailer-truck, which was traveling east and had nearly reached the top of Hell's Hollow hill when the car driven by Krazage came over the brow of the hill, was driven by Richard McCoy, of Slippery Rock, R. D. 4. Thick fog was apparently the cause of the accident.

Governor Martin Promises Long Range Plan To Meet State's Post-War Problems

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
HARRISBURG, Jan. 19.—Governor and Mrs. Edward Martin today promised the people of Pennsylvania that under his stewardship a long-range program will be formulated during the day when millions of soldiers will return to their homes following conclusion of the war.

"Under no circumstances must we permit the millions of soldiers to become another lost generation, perplexed and unable to find themselves," the new chief executive asserted in his inaugural address after he had been sworn in as the 35th governor of the commonwealth.

Post-War Program
The post-war program as outlined by Martin would include highway planning, flood control, reforestation, purification of streams and other needed public works for the re-employment of men and women, and private industry.

A Republican, Martin pledged to President Roosevelt "our united and unreserved support...in all matters pertaining to the prosecution of the war" but warned that "we will jealously guard those functions and prerogatives which, under our constitution, belong exclusively to the state."

Head-On Collision In Fog Kills Passenger; Driver Critically Injured

(Special To The News)

MERCER, January 19 — George E. Creese, 36, of 441 Island avenue, McKees Rocks, was instantly killed in an auto accident which occurred this morning about 3:50 a. m., when the car in which he was a passenger crashed head-on into a trailer on the Mercer-Sharon road about 2½ miles west of Mercer.

Driver of the car was Ignatz Krazage, of Hazleton, Pa. R. D. 1, Box 333, who is in a critical condition in the Mercer Cottage hospital suffering from a fractured skull and other injuries.

The trailer-truck, which was traveling east and had nearly reached the top of Hell's Hollow hill when the car driven by Krazage came over the brow of the hill, was driven by Richard McCoy, of Slippery Rock, R. D. 4. Thick fog was apparently the cause of the accident.

HONOLULU HAS AIR RAID ALARM

(International News Service)

HONOLULU, Jan. 19.—An air raid alarm sounded in Honolulu early today because of the presence of unidentified "elements" which later proved to be friendly.

(Editor's Note: It was assumed the word "elements" meant airplanes.)

Honolulu was awakened from a sound sleep when the alarm sounded at 12:48 a. m. The "all clear" came at 1:05 a. m.

It was the first alarm heard here since March 4, 1942.

The populace responded instantaneously and took to shelter in accordance with standing instructions. When the "all clear" came, everyone was just as quick in getting back into bed and to sleep.

House Of Commons Hears Cheering News

By CHARLES A. SMITH
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, Jan. 19.—The House of Commons reassembled in perhaps the most cheerful atmosphere since the war began today and was rewarded for its many months of patience and forbearance with these promises and predictions:

1—1943 will be a peak year for British production.

2—The bombing of Germany will continue with no concern for German threats or reprisals.

3—Thousands of Nazi troops surrounded at Stalingrad will be annihilated.

4—With the initiative in allied hands, Britain can look forward to this year "with justifiable confidence."

5—Britain's deadly blackout will be alleviated slightly so far as transportation is concerned although the streets must remain unlighted.

Various ministers of the crown addressed the house to deal with matters under their immediate control. The chief spokesman for Prime Minister Winston Churchill was

Company B, Reserve Defense Corps Has Annual Inspection Monday Night

Joseph V. Cunningham Armory was found to be "excellent maintained" and Company B, Third Regiment, "Pennsylvania Reserve" Defense Corps found to be functioning in good order Monday night when Major John Peth of Third Service Command, Baltimore made the annual inspection.

Major Peth arrived in New Castle Monday afternoon with Colonel Robert G. Woodside of Pittsburgh commanding the Third regiment. Here they were met by Captain Lester W. McClelland, commanding Company B. In the afternoon the armory was inspected and for Major Peth it was his first visit. He expressed himself as delighted with the armory and its facilities. The inspection of the company was made Monday night.

At six o'clock Major Peth had dinner with officers of the local company and a few citizens interested in the welfare of the company. Tonight he inspects the New Brighton armory and the platoon of Company B located there.

Soviet Armies Push Nazis Back On Long Front

Food Is Rushed To Leningrad As Red Troops Break 18-Months Siege Of City

RUSSIANS PUSHING TOWARD KHARKOV

By NATALIA KENE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

MOSCOW, Jan. 19.—Soviet armies ripped today the Nazi defense lines today in the far north to the Caucasus foothills in the south. The battles raged across a line stretching 1,200 miles in length.

Red army forces which lifted the 18-month siege of Leningrad, permitting train loads of food to reach the city's 3,000,000 inhabitants, maintained battering assaults against the remains of the Nazi ring which had surrounded the former Czarist capital.

250,000 German Dead

The Communist newspaper Pravda stated that 250,000 German dead are "rotting on the approaches to Leningrad."

Soviet troops surged forward on the southern front in the direction of Kharkov, steel capital of the Ukraine, and made new headway toward the Caucasus city of Rostov in drives through the Don Basin and North Caucasus.

In the northern Donetz sector the Russians forced a new crossing of the Donetz river as they surged forward to gain wider control of the Moscow-Rostov rail line in the offensive against Rostov.

Several inhabited localities were taken following capture of the rail station of Kamensk, 85 miles north of Rostov.

An infantry battalion on one sector was routed by the Soviets and 400 of the enemy were killed.

Retake Localities

"On the southern front," said the high command in its noon communiqué, "several inhabited localities were captured."

"In the area of one railway station the enemy concentrated large forces of infantry and tanks and

City Board One Men Accepted

Group Examined Last Friday At Erie Is Certified To Local Board

LARGE NUMBER INCLUDED IN LIST

Another large group of city men, sent to Erie last Friday by Local Board One, was accepted for service at the Erie induction center, and are now at home here awaiting the expiration of their week's furlough, at the conclusion of which they will proceed to the New Cumberland reception center to begin their army duties.

Included in the group is John Wilson Morris, son of Mr. and Mrs. George D. Morris of 229 Fairfield avenue, who has been attending high school since his graduation at high school last year, and who has completed two years of his college course in one year in order to qualify for special army training. On arrival at New Cumberland, he will report to the commanding officer there for assignment to the army air forces for the purpose of pursuing an approved course of pre-military training.

Also leaving with the city group will be Francis Anthony Mashando of Hillsville, who was sent to Erie

Increase U.S. Solomons Air Offensive

All American Planes Active

May Be Paving Way For New U. S. Moves In Pacific Area

MAY ALSO BE PLAN TO BLOCK JAP MOVE

By JOSEPH A. BORS
WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Every available American plane based in the South Pacific today is being pressed into service in the latest aerial offensive against Japanese base and shipping to forestall another enemy thrust against Guadalcanal, possibly to pave the way for new U. S. moves in that area.

According to battle reports from the Solomons, even slow flying Navy patrol bombers have joined speedy Army Flying Fortress and Marauder bombers in assaults on Jap positions from one end of the archipelago to the other.

May Plan Jap Thrust
Resumption of the Japanese bombing raids on Guadalcanal and presence of an increasing number of enemy destroyers in the Solomons waters indicated that the Japs again may be preparing for a sea borne thrust against American positions.

Although American forces have been working on the premise that the Japs would return and are ready for them, it is entirely possible that U. S. forces may strike offensively themselves and thus disrupt Jap plans.

The Japs have had two months since their November defeat to plan their next move against the Americans, and Navy men believe that the enemy high command may order another counter drive momentarily.

NEW GOVERNOR TAKES OATH OF OFFICE AT NOON

War had replaced the peace of 1939, when Arthur H. James was inaugurated governor.

As Justice Maxey read the oath of office, it was repeated by the governor-elect, who solemnly intoned, "I do," at its completion. The oath was taken on the family Bible which was used when Martin was sworn in years before as state treasurer, auditor general and adjutant general. It had been given to him by his wife before their marriage.

As the ceremony was completed, former Gov. Arthur H. James went over and shook the hands of his successor in office. Both beamed happily.

Governor Martin then launched into an 18-minute inaugural address.

Card Of Thanks
We, the family of Irene Parks, wish to thank our friends and neighbors, who so kindly extended us sympathy, sent floral tributes, and donated cars, during our bereavement.

MR. AND MRS. G. A. LESLIE AND FAMILY.

Expecting a Baby?
Mother's Friend helps bring ease and comfort to expectant mothers.

MOTHER'S FRIEND, an exclusively prepared emollient, is a most useful in all conditions where a bland, mild anodyne massage medium in skin lubrication is desired. One condition in which women for more than 70 years have used it is an application for massaging the body during pregnancy. It helps keep the skin soft and pliable, thus avoiding unnecessary discomfort due to dryness and tightness. It refreshes and tones the skin. An ideal massage application for the numb, tingling or burning sensations of the skin, for the tired back muscles or cramp-like pains in the legs. Quickly absorbed. Delightful to use.

founders...let us end unnecessary government boondoggling, shooing, overlapping and duplication."

Asks United Support
Governor Martin called for the support of Democrats as well as Republicans during his term of office. "The smoke of battle of the last election has cleared," he stated. "Today, as the governor of all the people of Pennsylvania, I ask for united support in order that, during our term in office, we may accomplish the maximum good for the greatest number of people."

Martin disclosed that he was opposed to any extension of civil service until after the war. "It seems manifestly unfair to lift government positions by civil service now," he asserted. "We should wait until these men (the soldiers) come home and have an opportunity to take their rightful places again in society."

He warned against labor disputes that hamper war production. "We stand ready in conjunction with federal agencies to adjust any grievances that may arise," he stated. "But it is our profound conviction that no grievance of any kind must impede or delay the making or delivering of war materials to our armed forces and deprive the American soldier of the weapons with which to defend himself from attack by the enemy."

Seeks Harmony
Governor Martin added that during his administration it will be his "constant effort" through the department of labor and industry, "to foster and encourage better relations between management and labor."

Ad must also be extended to the farmers of Pennsylvania, said the chief executive, in overcoming "his lack of man-power and his shortage of materials and equipment."

The governor asserted that it may be necessary for boys and girls under 18 to leave school for a time "and help in the fields."

Pennsylvania is carrying her full burden of the war, said Martin. "One man in every ten wearing the American uniform is a Pennsylvanian...our shipyards are turning out ships with a speed that is startling in the annals of shipbuilding."

He said Pennsylvania is "one of the most important food producers in the world."

Governor Martin praised his predecessor, Arthur H. James, asserting that his administration has been "outstanding." He expressed the hope also that "during our stewardship in office a happy peace will crown our efforts."

mediately drove forward and the advanced elements reached the Girawa area some two miles south-east of Sanananda.

Allied airmen meanwhile hammered at near-by Jap bases in around-the-clock raids.

Jap Shipping Toll
The toll of Japanese shipping mounted as an 8,000-ton cargo ship was reported sunk by an Allied heavy bomber in the Bismark Sea north of New Britain Island, and other heavy bombers again blasted enemy vessels in the harbor of Rabaul, on the northeastern tip of the island.

Results were not observed, due to intense enemy searchlight activity, the communique stated. Five Japanese vessels were sunk or damaged in the previous raid on Rabaul.

Other points hit in raids by Allied bombers and fighters included Lae, Madang and Finschhafen on the New Guinea shore some 125 miles northwest of Sanananda Point, and Gasmata, on the south shore of New Britain Island.

The number of enemy casualties in the Sanananda sector was not announced, but an Allied patrol was reported to have surprised and killed 40 Japanese near the village of Komitum.

Many fires were started at Lae where supply dumps and military buildings were hit and set ablaze. Targets of the attacks on Madang and Gasmata were enemy air-docks.

There was no mention of loss of any Allied aircraft in the widespread raids.

Men Of Military Age Are Warned

Must Carry Classification And Registration Cards After February First

All men in New Castle, between the ages of 18 and 38 inclusive, who have been subject to Selective Service registration for as long as six months, and who do not have their classification cards, are advised to get by Col. B. F. Evans, Acting Director of Selective Service in Pennsylvania, to communicate with their local boards at once. On and after February 1, he pointed out, any man in this age group who does not have in his personal possession his Classification Card (Form 57) as well as his Certificate of Registration, is liable to fine or imprisonment, or both.

This is the advice passed on through the local registration boards. The recent order of the Selective Service Bureau of the War Manpower Commission, setting February 1, as the deadline for the possession of Classification Cards by men of military ages, has already met with a great response throughout the state.

Col. Evans states that it is not the function of the Selective Service system or its agents, the local board members, to prosecute violators. The F.B.I. investigates most of these cases. Violators of the act, or its regulations, are liable under the law to a maximum fine of $10,000 or five years in prison, or both.

Those who have lost their cards, should ask their local board for a duplicate, and these should be certain that the local board knows the proper address where mail will reach them at all times. Delay in heeding the request, Col. Evans states, may result in much embarrassment later.

PULASKI

BRITISH FORCES PRESS RETREATING NAZIS IN LIBYA

to the vicinity of Ziltan. Ziltan lies 85 miles east of Tripoli along the coast road.

The advance on Ziltan placed the British within 25 miles of Homs, about 60 miles east of Tripoli.

Tarhuna is connected with Homs, to the northeast, and El Azizia, to the northwest, by a road which swings in an arc below the coast. The distance from Tarhuna to El Azizia is 35 miles and from the latter point it is 25 miles to Tripoli.

Drive Nazis Back

"In the northern sector our troops reached the Ziltan area after having passed through Misurata and Girabaldi," a communique from headquarters of Gen. Sir Harold R. L. G. Alexander said.

On the southern sector, it was disclosed, the eighth army drove the retreating Axis forces from Beni Uld, 85 miles southeast of Tripoli, and drove forward to gain contact with Nazi General Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's rear guard in the area of Tarhuna.

Several of Rommel's tanks were smashed by the advancing British. Allied fighter-bomber squadrons continued to harass the fleeing Axis columns throughout the battle area.

A heavy new attack on the Castel Benito airfield, 10 miles south of Tripoli, was announced. Thirty fires broke out at the blasted airfield and bombs were dropped among dispersed aircraft.

HOUSE OF COMMONS HEARS GOOD NEWS

Dominions Secretary and Deputy Prime Minister Major Clement R. Attlee, and it was he who predicted 1943 would be a banner year. "We look forward to 1943 with confidence," he said.

"The initiative has passed into the hands of the United Nations."

"The wonderful achievements of the Russian army at present take prize place. It looks as if none of the great German force around Stalingrad will escape the trap."

READING CIRCLE '91 HAS MID-WINTER TEA

Monday afternoon in the reading lounge of the Y. W. C. A. members of the Reading Circle of '91 gathered for a mid-winter party, in the form of a tea. Mrs. E. L. Davenport graciously presided as hostess, and she was most ably assisted throughout the afternoon, by Mrs. R. M. Jamison.

At 2:30 o'clock, festivities were in progress with tea and refreshments being served from an attractively appointed table. Mrs. Jamison poured. The hours that ensued were devoted to an informal social period.

Announcement was made for the meeting planned for Monday, February 1. It will be held at the same place, with the same hours being observed, the hostess for this date, to be decided.

CARR-SMITH WEDDING IN U. P. CHURCH STUDY

A quiet but impressive wedding ceremony of interest to many, took place on Monday afternoon, January 18, in the study of the Second United Presbyterian church, when Miss Catherine R. Carr, daughter of Mrs. Pearl Carr of West Washington street extension, became the bride of James W. Smith of Youngstown, O., son of Mrs. Edith Smith of East Palestine, O.

The vows were exchanged at 3 o'clock, with the Rev. J. Calvin Rose, pastor, officiating. He used the single ring service.

For her marriage, the bride was attractive in a poudre blue street length crepe dress, with a large matching hat. Her accessories were black and complementing her attire, she had a corsage of gardenias. Miss Ellen Melnyk, as maid of honor and only attendant, chose a street length jersey in shell pink, with hat to harmonize. Her accompaniments were also black, and her shoulder bouquet was made up of pink roses.

Miss Jane Davis was a special guest at the ceremony.

Charles Robins of this city served as best man.

Immediately following a wedding dinner for the bridal party was served at a dining room in Youngstown, O., and the couple departed afterwards on a short trip. Upon their return they will take up residence in New Castle, where he is employed with the United Engineering Company.

TRUE BLUE CLASS AT JONES RESIDENCE

Mrs. Florence Jones, East Washington street, entertained members of the True Blue class, Monday evening, in her home, with Mrs. Marian Haley as co-hostess.

Capsule sisters were revealed, and names for 1943 were drawn. An informal time was enjoyed, and later a delicious lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by the co-hostess, Mrs. Haley.

On February 15, Mrs. Mary Harper, of Court street, will entertain, with Mrs. Viola Lapinsky, being co-hostess.

TWO GUESTS FEATURE WOMAN'S CLUB PROGRAM

Monday afternoon in Highland U. P. church, two New Castle women shared honors on the program presented by Woman's Club. As a delightful prelude to the regularly scheduled event Gula Bauder Keagy, contralto, sang three numbers, "Mists," by Respighi, "Sequidilla" from Carmen, by Bizet, and "Over the Steppes," by Gretchaninoff. Mrs. Keagy responded graciously to encomiums with the lovely old favorite "Still as the Night," by Bohm. Her accompanist was Professor Louis Brunelli. Gula Bauder Keagy is well known to musical circles here and in New York City, and is a member of Mascagni Opera Company, Gilbert & Sullivan Players and also Vladimir Elin's Russian Opera Company. She has sung the roles of "Olga" in Tchaikovsky's Eugene Onegin, "Lola" in Mascagni's Cavalleria Rusticana and other operatic and light opera roles in New York City. She is also an artist and has exhibited here and in other cities.

In presenting the speaker for the afternoon, program chairman, Mrs. Arthur Borland, introduced Mrs. James L. Vogan, a member of Woman's club. Mrs. Vogan reviewed Frances Parkins Keyes' best seller "Crescent Carnival." Beginning with a short biography of the author, she told this story of New Orleans and colorfully, holding her audience with tense interest until the final word. Mrs. Vogan has a sparkling personality, a clear pleasing voice and her reviewing of this outstanding book was a delightful experience for her listeners.

Routine business was resided over by Mrs. John Elliott, first vice-president. Woman's Club reports to date, the sale of $176,547.35 in bonds and stamps at the booth on North Mill street in front of the Federal Loan and Savings Bank, well above the goal set for $150,000 by January 1st, 1943.

Hostesses for the day were Mrs. Glenn Berry and Miss Mary Dell Davison.

February 1st, Mrs. Bruce Smith will speak on "Our American Heritage."

RAF BRINGS WAR HOME TO BERLIN

LONG hoped-for news of Allied air raids against Berlin has come. Heavy four-motored British bombers, on a 1200-mile round trip flight, roared over the heart and centre of Nazidom and, dropping two and four-ton block buster bombs and incendiaries, left a trail of huge fires across the city, two nights in succession.

They were the first raids by the RAF upon Berlin since the night of November 7, 1941; the first times since comparatively light and sporadic Russian air attacks ended in August of last year that the Berliners have heard the shriek and crash of bombs.

But these British bombs were such as the Nazis never heard before. The people of the Ruhr and of other German cities have heard them. Berlin's millions have been lulled by months of quiet. Now they know, and no smoothly turned propaganda from Goebbels can explain it away.

A vital aspect of these raids are timing. Smashing new advances are taking place against Nazi armies. After weeks of preparation General Montgomery's British Eighth Army has begun a new assault on Marshall Rommel's Libyan forces.

The Russians have driven relentlessly westward to within 125 miles of Kharkov. Velikie Luki has been taken. In the Stalingrad area the Reds say that no more than 50,000 weary Nazi soldiers remain of an original army of 220,000 men and these, by official Nazi admission, are completely encircled.

With the armies of the United Nations marshalled as never before, with American and British air power at a tremendous peak, the Axis must be struck mighty blows at every possible point. And it is essential that these attacks shall not be confined to the outer edges of Axis power, but carried, again and again, to its heart: to Berlin—to Tokyo.

NAMING PLANES

America is giving types of planes names instead of letters and numbers, thus following British practice, already has revealed an array in nomenclature which calls on geography and the arms of Navy and Army for contribution, but also dips heavily into natural history and is not averse to borrowing from meteorology and astronomy.

Thus there are planes known as Yankee Doodle, Cornell, Caydet, Catalina, Coronado, Texan, Ventura, Dragon, Grasshopper, Helldiver, Warhawk, Mustang, Buffalo, Alcobra, Wildcat, Bobcat, and Lightning. Thunderbolts, Constellations, Lodestars, Skytrains, Skytroopers and Sky-masters. Fighting craft of the sea suggested Buccaneer, Vengeance, Vindicator, Mariner and Dauntless, all designations for light bombers.

NEW THINGS TO EAT

Certain outcroppings in the news offer indications that experiments in plant life are still in an expanding drive for new things to eat.

Down in Peru, where many useful Western Hemisphere plants originated, an experimental station is under way and if climate has anything to do with vegetable innovations some surprising discoveries may be announced.

In the United States efforts to improve varieties and production in food-supplying vegetation are incessant. Grain strains are being improved. The records hung up by hybrid corn remain one of the big in food-supplying vegetation are incessant. Grain strains are being achievements of the era.

The University of Tennessee recently announced a new African squash, a new tomato and a new strawberry. Extra quality is claimed for the squash, the tomato is a big fruit which critical canneries have approved and the strawberry, named the Tennessee Shipper, bears fruit larger than common. It is the result of ten years of experimentation and is named Essary after the late Professor Essary who developed it.

POST-WAR POLICY

Discussions already are under way between America and Britain regarding the repair of areas liberated from the axis. A long-range program of reconstruction is under contemplation, not merely a quick distribution of food, soap and medicine.

After the other war the United States furnished 85 per cent of all relief to Europe, playing a lone hand. This time there will have to be help in the contribution of quick relief commodities. The nations will pool their efforts. Later in the reconstruction phase the United States is likely to be called upon to furnish huge quantities of machinery, railroad rolling stock and other heavy industrial goods. Bold financial measures will be required.

What Washington has in mind is not yet clear but it seems plain that in any international organization America will have the dominant voice. The United States is spending more money in the prosecution of the war than all other nations on both sides of the conflict combined.

America will be faced with the necessity of being hard-headed after this war. For her own good she can not this time be too altruistic. But organization of a post-war world will find America in a directive position.

WEDDINGS IN WARTIME

During the year 1942 about 1,800,000 marriages were performed in the United States. There were never so many before in a single year. The easy assumption is that the war was responsible; but that is probably only part of the truth.

The record figure is 80 per cent higher than the number of marriages in 1932. And that was a depression year, and generally considered the period of lowest economic ebb for the American people. A lot of young men and women, in 1932, could not afford to get married.

A lot of young couples can afford it now. There are many weddings for which the war is only indirectly responsible. Wartime prosperity makes it possible for many couples to set up housekeeping of a sort, who might be obliged to wait in time of peace for a nest egg and an established income.

The troubling thought is that high wages for war workers may not last. Neither will the war last forever. When it is over, no doubt, will come the test of many marriages under abnormal conditions. But to most marriages comes eventually a time of test, whether made in peace or war, in hard times or prosperity. This prospect does not discourage young people in love from getting married, or there would be many less marriages.—Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.

The Parent Problem

By Gary C. Myers, Ph. D.

REALITIES FACING PARENTS

We who write columns and books and give public addresses on desirable ways of bringing up the child and cultivating happy family relationships really want to help parents attain these ends. Yet an occasional parent who reads what we write or listens to what we say, is harmed more than helped.

Perhaps we experts have been at fault in not warning parents against taking things they read or hear too literally, against taking them without considering the circumstances under which these parents must work. Too often, we write and speak as if everything had been ideal up to now.

Parents need to face realities. Not what you are sure is desirable, but what you can accomplish with a reasonable expenditure of vexation to you and others concerned should be your guide.

Don't Hope For Unattainable

Suppose you must live with the grandparents of your children and suppose these grandparents always have bossed you and your husband. So long as you are living with them there will be some goals you might as well not try to attain. Better to let such matters go by and not reasonably attainable, than to fret and fume and make you and your child and all the rest miserable and still not attain these goals.

Suppose you have a husband whose views or ways concerning your child or children are in constant conflict with yours. You probably should just give up, unless you can win your husband first to your views and ways.

Or, suppose the family set-up or program is such that your adolescent youth has grown impudent, uncooperative or openly defiant and all your efforts so far have failed. Sit down then, father and mother, to take stock, trying to ascertain what controls and co-operations you can effect and what you cannot.

Make up your mind not to go on with vain and ever-increasing irritations between you and the youth, with him growing still worse. Better to let him go his way with your companionship and love than to have him go his way to your discouragement.

Anyway, your most hopeful means is through more love and understanding on your part and more emphasis by you on his strengths and less on his weaknesses.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. My baby 20 months old says only a few words and will never say a word when we urge him.

A. Quit urging him to talk. As you do things for him or with him constantly talk about what you are doing. Read some to him every day. Get him with a child a bit older who talks well. Also have his hearing checked by a specialist.

Q. You are constantly warning us against letting our children do as they please and advising us to teach them the meaning of No when they are little. Why don't you write something to show us how to go about it so as to get good results?

A. I have tried to do just this in my special bulletin, "How To Teach Tot Meaning of NO" to be had by writing me at 235 East 45th street, New York City, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it. Another bulletin of mine which should be read along with this one is "Stubbornness."

PEACE TERMS

Oh, when at last the peace is made Of war will men be still afraid? Will those of strength completely spent?

Still wait and work for armament And subject still to hates and fears Prepare to fight in twenty years?

Must all the crimes which war enacts Re-seed themselves in written pacts And must the terms which men contrive

Still keep the ancient hates alive And must the peace that's made remain

Only till men can fight again?

Or is it now well understood The people long for brotherhood? The common people ask no more Than promised in the freedom's four.

Security in work and play, Old age, and as they choose, to pray.

Who thinks in terms of "yours" and "mine" And "have" and "seek" and "border line"

And ships and guns and armored might Instead of freedom, truth and right, Though for a time the cannons cease,

Will never make a lasting peace.

WORKING WIVES

"Last night I heard a hot argument as to whether girls should keep their jobs after marrying. What do you think?"—Priscilla.

Answer: If her husband's income is still insufficient to maintain a home at the standard she desires, a girl is very unwise to voluntarily relinquish a good position that she likes. Marriage confers no license allowing a wife to sit idly by while her husband carries all of the responsibilities. Wives of husbands in moderate circumstances used to have to stay at home because they made all of the clothes for the family—even the homespun for the suits of their husbands and sons as well as the family's shoes, not to mention their underwear and stockings. Families were large and few wives enjoyed the respite of even a 16-hour day. But now when it is cheaper to buy than to make nearly every item of family consumption, young wives without children generally find too much time on their hands if they stay at home all day. And most of the girls of my acquaintance who have given up congenial positions when married have confessed to me that they have missed their offices after a few months spent alone in their new studios, or apartment or even houses. To most women, office work is more congenial than housework. But, of course, the ideal marriage results in children whose proper care demands a home career for their mothers while they are young. And the majority of our men are in the armed forces, it is the patriotic duty of every idle woman to help in our industrial emergency.

Extra-Territorial Rights Explained
Chinese First Sanctioned Arrangement
Idea Did Not Originate With America

By CHARLES P. STEWART

Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—American and British abandonment of extra-territorial rights in China generally is described to the Occident as a great concession by the western countries to the Flowery Land in token of the former's appreciation of the latter's gallant fight against the Japanese.

Well, it's a fact that Chiang Kai-shek's Chungking government of today did want extra-territoriality ended.

That it originally was forced upon the Chinese from outside is entirely a wrong conclusion, however. It was an arrangement insisted on not only by the Chinese, but by other governments in the Near, Middle and Far East, as a condition for permitting foreigners to settle, live and transact business in their various midsts.

It prevailed in Turkey, for example, when I visited there just after the Abdul Hamid revolution.

Far from having imposed it upon a reluctant sultan, our diplomatic corps didn't like it. It involved a lot of work and was a nuisance to 'em. Nevertheless, they had it to bother with. The Turks wouldn't take it off our hands.

The Ottoman Empire wasn't so bad, to be sure, because we weren't sufficiently numerous there to be a serious pest. Along the Chinese coast, though, our traders were thick and we had to keep order among 'em. And at our own expense, mind you. That was the beauty of it, from the extra-territorialized folk's standpoint.

Envoy's Headache

Constantinople was the Turks' capital in those days. Now it's changed its name to Istanbul and the governmental headquarters has moved to Ankara. But that's immaterial.

To me extra-territoriality was a new thing at the time, but I soon learned that I wasn't responsible within our Yankee diplomatic limits for much of anything, to anybody but my own ambassador. If I created a street disturbance, no doubt the local police would have pinned me, but only to have been turned over immediately to the U. S. embassy's custody.

Supposed I asked Louis En-

THE BARN DOOR

But for the fortunate fact that the United States is a large place and can take a good deal of punishment from professional planners, the President's decrees of government wartime control of manpower and food would come under the head of locking the barn door after the horse has been stolen.

Our national barn is a big one and there are still a number of horses in it which these sadly-belated steps may save—if we don't have to eat em for beef on account of the meat shortage. But because this figurative structure is large, it has a great many doors through which our precious resources can be made to vanish by the thief of mismanagement. It is by no means clear that the Presidential appointments of Messrs. McNutt and Wickard, as manpower and food dictators, respectively, have locked them all against such depredations, or even most of them.

Happily, there is less question as to the fitness of the Secretary of Agriculture for his new job than is the case with Mr. McNutt. Mr. Wickard's recent (November 29) announcement of the food production aims of his department for 1943 showed that he has at least a pretty clear idea of the magnitude of his new task and of how to go about accomplishing it. His appointment is in accordance with the earnest recommendation of Herbert Hoover, our national and international food administrator during and after World War I, in an article published in the December Farm Journal. Mr. Hoover, who, probably, knows more

One Man's Opinion

The Ruml tax plan has more fingerprints on it than the roller towel in a cafeteria.

First the treasury made notes in the margin, then congress turned it over and wrote a new plan on the back.

We are going to have pay-as-you-go but any resemblance between the original and the time print will be discovered as we go along.

Ruml offered a plan which was no more complicated than a pocket comb.

That was the first point against it.

Before opening the envelope the treasury announced that it wouldn't do. Then, holding it upside down, the treasury said it might do with me changes.

Ruml wanted to start collecting '3s taxes in 1943.

The treasury said it wouldn't touch 1942's taxes. We can get tough on '42. We can refuse to forgive the '39, '40 and '41.

Unfounded Optimism

Washington, Jan. 19. THE MORE thoughtful and responsible of our leaders, both military and political, are deeply concerned over the present mood of the American people. The feeling that from now on the war is going all our way and that victory is in sight is, they say, based upon a misconception of the situation which can become dangerous.

IT IS not that these men lack confidence that in the end somehow we shall win. They have that all right. But they are emphatic in the assertion that we have not won yet; that, encouraging as has been the news of the last three months, the war still can be lost. And they deplore the fact that the public generally does not concede this possibility and is largely disposed to regard things now as more or less of a pushover.

FAR FROM being a pushover, it is completely certain that much harder fighting, greater losses and considerable bad news are ahead of us. There is not a competent military authority who does not agree about that—not one who does not know the longer the people are permitted to think that we are over the hump and nothing can stop us now, the harder it will be for them to bear the inevitable reverses when they come, and accept cheerfully the new sacrifices that will be required.

AS TO the causes for the popular mood, they are not hard to list. First, of course, there are the really great successes scored by the United Nations against the enemy. For example, the British victories in Egypt, the tremendous Russian advances, our own splendidly conceived and splendidly carried out African expedition, and the great naval victory over Japan at the Solomon Islands. These things justify rejoicing and confidence, but they do not justify belief that the enemy is on the run; that either Germany or Japan is beaten; that we cannot be beaten.

THERE IS genuine danger in those assumptions and, while the push-

Looking At Life

—By Erich Brandeis

There aren't many things on which I agree with New York's good Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia.

As a matter of fact I am reliably informed that if the Little Flower had to make his choice between me and a dose of rat poison, he'd choose the latter.

But I certainly do most heartily endorse his stand on the eating of horse meat.

This is what he told the citizens of New York in an address:

"Whatever you do, don't you ever permit horse meat to be eaten in New York City."

Wherever it is sold, you will find degradation. It is the most depressing thing you have ever seen. I have seen it in certain countries.

"The fact that it isn't poison might get it through the health requirements, but there is a moral side to it that I am strongly against."

The horse is a friend. The horse is intelligent. It is beautiful. It has character, individuality, loyalty. Have you ever read Barry Corbin's poem? Here's a bit of it:

Navy Recruits At Pittsburgh For Examination

Large Number Leave At Early Hour This Morning For Final Examination

In addition to the youths leaving this morning for New Cumberland, Pa., to begin their army duties, 25 youths from the local district went to Pittsburgh on the same train, to take their final examination for service in the U. S. navy.

If accepted, these men will be inducted into service at once. Chief Petty Officer David C. Ritchie, in charge of the local recruiting station, announced. Most of them are youths of the 18-20 year old class, who have been released by their selective service boards for navy duty, while some are youths under 18 years of age.

Those in the group were: Joseph Yanul, 511 Electric street, New Castle.

Matthew Dominick Viggiano, 808 Pollock avenue.

George Stanley Richards, 36 Hazel street, Ellwood City.

Larry John Ritorito, 612 Hazel avenue, Ellwood City.

Thomas Charles Junk, 49 Alan avenue, Greenville.

William Edwin Bradley, R. D. 5, Graceland road.

Harvey Benton Stowe, Pulaski.

Herman Petrick, Hillsville.

John Bertolino, 423 Over street.

Richard John Audino, 1015 Cunningham avenue.

Phillip Bernard Moynihan, R. D. 1, Greenville.

John Chester Squicquero, 11 Franklin avenue, Ellwood City.

Anthony Rudolph Toma, 325 Lawrence avenue, Ellwood City.

James Edward Armstrong, 1001 Beckford street.

Russell Lee Horcher, 515 West Clayton street.

Richard Russell Huff, 431 Summit street, Grove City.

Carl Henry Albaugh, 117 Shenango boulevard, Farrell.

about the subject than any one else, believes that the Secretary of Agriculture (he did not refer to Mr. Wickard personally) is better equipped now with experience and facilities for the task than would be a special authority such as he. Mr. Hoover, was called upon to be. Finally, Mr. Wickard knows his vegetables, also his corn, wheat, hogs and other soil products. He is a practical farmer, having earned his living at it, along with various titles and prizes for expert agriculture, since childhood. He has been with the Department for ten years and Under-secretary for three. On the positive side he is well equipped for the job; on the negative one, he should be, though that is something for time and performance to show.

The negative side might be described as knowing where the barn's unlocked doors are. There are plenty of them, with lost or rust-jammed palocks. By which is meant that they are mostly the results of the long delay in established wartime food control and of the great New Deal-dominated policies of the Department. These may not be two causes but only one. The reluctance of the administration ever to relinquish any of its ideas, much less to reverse one by substituting maximum farm production for planned scarcity, is notorious.

It is fair to say that Mr. Wickard has not always been in sympathy with these notions and consequently has that much less to unlearn. But he is still operating under the old A.A.A. system whose gospel is that the American farmer does not know his own business and must therefore be bribed by crop loans, grants, subsidies and "conservation" bonuses to substitute for his own judgment of a set of desk-farmers in Washington as to what he shall raise, how and how much.

The President's order consolidates the A.A.A. along with various other alphabetical agricultural agencies into the new Food Production Administration, but the smell of it lingers on. Worse still, so does the system. It is less than a month, for example, since the Supreme Court ruled that a farmer may be penalized forty-nine cents a bushel for all wheat he presumes to grow in excess of his government-fixed quota! Surely an extraordinary way to appeal to the free and patriotic initiative of our sturdy tillers of the soil in the greatest emergency they have ever been called upon to meet. We have to feed our armed services at home and abroad.

that, in that interval of nearly eight months during which the farm labor shortage has been getting worse all the time, Mr. McNutt had done exactly nothing to relieve it.

To this Mr. McNutt would reply that until now he has lacked the authority to do anything but that, clothed with the dictatorial powers with which Mr. Roosevelt has invested in him, things will be different from now on. It is earnestly to be hoped that this is true. But let it not be forgotten that Mr. McNutt is still a politician and still under the powerful influences which have long been pirating away our food-producing manpower. In some agricultural communities forty per cent of it has already been lost.

Maybe, with Mr. McNutt's aid, Mr. Wickard can catch and put back some of these purloined horses. Anyway, let's hope so.

The Great Game Of Politics

ment inflicted upon the Axis forces is the basis for most of them, there are a number of contributing causes. Undoubtedly, one of these is the constant flow of news about air battles in which the enemy loses forty planes to our eight, or we outfight them six to one; or only two of our big bombers are lost while destroying twenty of their fighters, and so forth. These things are all true and fine, but the point which military men make is that they are trivial actions in size and losses, that the enemy is not really hurt, that the only place where there are casualties of a kind really to weaken the enemy's armies is on the Russian front.

THE FURTHER argument is that a constant diet of these headlines and dispatches dealing in heroic exploits of our flyers is bound to convey the notion that we are on a steady march to a speedy and complete triumph, which at this moment is certainly not the case. Another contributing cause is the outbreak of "better world" after the war speeches. No one contends that post-war and peace-treaty planning is not essential. What is contended is that too much of this "better world" stuff on the air and in the press in the form of idealistic orations by highly placed public officials—like Mr. Wallace, for instance—is calculated to make people think that the show is about over. Also, the expression of Admiral Halsey of his feeling that the end would come in 1943 was a big factor in inculcating that idea. It is a wrong one—so wrong that our military leaders are filled with apprehensions lest the people be further misled.

WHAT IT boils down to is that, in the opinion of the best informed and most competent of the men who are running this war, few better things can be done at the moment than to awaken the people from their optimistic dreams and make them face realities. One result is that the war is a long way from being won; that there stretches ahead a lot of terribly hard fighting, which will test our strength in the field to the utmost and our capacity for work and endurance at home to the limit. The grim reality of all, of course, is the menace of the enemy submarines. The cold facts about that situation are that the Germans have between 600 and 800 submarines, most of which are concentrated upon the ocean lanes over which we have to transport troops, food, ammunition and supplies. In addition, they are building new submarines at about the rate of twenty-five a month, and we are sinking them only about one third as fast as they can be built.

AT THAT rate, the danger increases rather than diminishes. These submarines are like a thumb pressing hard on our jugular vein. Until and unless that pressure is removed, the war can't be won, and may be lost. There is no room for genuine optimism until that threat has been met. And it has not yet been met, though progress is being made. This is not defeatism; it is realism, and it is the military men who think it the sort of realism which should now be preached. Certainly, it will be more helpful than the "better world" propaganda.

Power will put him in Hitler's backyard!

WHEN American paratroopers finally drop in on Adolf, it will be a BIG day for all of us. We'll all feel that we had a hand in their triumph—fighters, farmers, War Bond buyers and workers in war industry.

The electric industry will be especially pleased because our product—electric power—is basic to most industry. Electric power drove the machines that made practically every part of the transport plane that delivered this tough trooper. Electric sewing machines put the panels of his big parachute together—and efficient electric light helped the operator keep the stitches straight. Electric power goes all the way in modern war.

It can go so far because America has so much of it—five times as much as we had in the last war—far more than in all of Axis-land together. And seven-eighths of this vast pool of electric power is produced by the electric companies under practical business management.

This power is really the result of the American system of business management under public regulation—a system which allows free men to make the most of their initiative and intelligence—a system which gives them the urge to invent and invest and create for the common good.

The force of that free system will help smash Hitler's slave system and assure the future peaceful progress of the world.

Tax On Government Machinery Voided

Court Decision Cancels Assessment On Equipment Leased By Mesta Machine For War Work

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Jan. 19.—Tax assessments on machinery owned by the federal government and leased to war plants were invalidated on Monday by Judge Henry L. Ellenbogen in an opinion expected to affect billions of dollars worth of government property.

In a test case, the jurist voided an assessment of $618,000 made by the Allegheny county tax board on machinery installed in the Mesta Machine company's West Homestead plant. The United States attorney general's office had intervened in the case in behalf of Mesta.

The court held that taxing war machinery under such circumstances would impede the nation's war effort and therefore was in violation of the constitution. The machinery had been leased to the Mesta company for $1, and in the event the tax had been held constitutional, the government would have been forced to reimburse the firm.

What Noted People Say

(International News Service) CHICO, Cal.—Father Bernard J. Hubich, famed glacier priest, tells of a visit to American soldiers in Alaska: "I went up there to help their morale; they helped mine."

BOSTON—Frances E. Perkins, secretary of labor: "We should start at this moment to implement our pledge that this world shall be free from want."

NEW YORK—James W. Gerard, former ambassador to Germany: "Sooner or later the Japanese will try a desperate invasion of the United States or Alaska."

BUENOS AIRES—Alberto Guani, Uruguay's foreign minister: "It is impossible for us to continue to admire the Russian heroism and yet not resume relations with the Soviet."

Routine Business Occupies Truckers

Routine business affairs occupied the time of the members of the Lawrence county chapter, Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association, Monday night when they met for their monthly dinner meeting in The Castleton. President J. Fred Clarke brought a number of letters from the state headquarters to the attention of the chapter.

BRITISH FORCES AND JAPANESE CLASH IN BURMA

(International News Service)
NEW DELHI, Jan. 19.—British forces from India are pressing offensive patrol sorties eastward into the Assam district of Burma where they have clashed with Japanese troops in the Chin hills, the British India command announced today.

There have been occasional encounters during the past few days as the British forces made contact with enemy elements, an official communiqué said.

Troops of British field marshal Sir Archibald P. Wavell operating to the south in the direction of the port of Akyab were said to have occupied a village formerly held by the Japs of the Kalada river 30 miles northeast of Rathedaung. Rathedaung is 25 miles north of Akyab.

Fight Wartime Rise In "Tuberculosis" Is Executive's Plea

"Prevent a wartime rise in tuberculosis in this country." This is the keynote for the 1943 program of the Lawrence County Tuberculosis society announced today by Mrs. Helen S. Vonderau, executive secretary.

There can be no armistice or peace treaty with tuberculosis," she continued. "This is a total war at home and the disease is far from being defeated."

"Christmas Seal returns are still coming in. These contributions are never late to us, for seal sale dollars work all year round. We're deeply appreciative of the contributions we've received. This year, more than ever before, we need the financial and moral support of all residents."

"From past years we know that throughout January we shall continue to receive contributions. Some people forget the seals during the Christmas rush, and we hear from them around this time," she concluded.

Girl Scout Winners Named In Essay Contest Sponsored By Local Women Doctors

Mrs. W. Keith McAfee, chairman of Public Relations committee of the Girl Scout Council, announced today, the names of the girl scout whose essays were contest winners.

Quite a few girl scouts entered the contest, sponsored by local women doctors and held in connection with a recent radio play based on the life of Dr. Elizabeth Blackwell. First aid kits were awarded only to those whose essays received first place. Several other essays were in second place.

"Why I'd Like to be a Doctor," was the subject of essays written by the Brownies, and winners of this group are: first place—Elaine Gibson, 1039 Adams street, of Brownie Troop 45. Second place—Gertrude Kay Hamill, 815 Pearl street, Brownie Troop 44. Dr. Ida Shannon awarded the prize to the winner of this section.

Intermediates group winners also wrote on the subject, "Why I'd Like to be a Doctor." First place—Myrna Lou Leare, 502 Eighth street, of girl scout troop 16. Tying for the second place were: Suzanne Jacobs, 1107 Ashland avenue, also of girl scout troop 16, and Mary Jane Graham, West Washington street extension, of girl scout troop 3. Dr. Mary Baker gave the prize to the winners.

The older girl scouts wrote their essays on "Medicine As a Vocation." Those winning included: first place—Annie Andy, 422 East Long avenue, of girl scout troop 20, second place—Dorothy Duckworth, 18 Temple avenue, of girl scout troop 20. The winners received a first aid kit prize from Dr. Mildred Rogers.

Judges for the contests were: Mrs. C. M. England, commissioner; Miss Margaret Brown, and Miss Angeline Castrucci.

PERSONAL MENTION

PRODUCTION OF GARMENTS HEAVY

Red Cross Units Have Turned Out Thousands Of Garments During Year

Just how great a job the good women of Lawrence county have been doing in their chosen field of the war effort is revealed by the recent reports of department heads, submitted to the board of directors of the Lawrence county chapter, American Red Cross, at its annual meeting.

In the production department, where the garments for refugees, and other victims of the war, is turned out, Mrs. Helen Wharton, chairman, reveals that a total of 13,050 garments were made by women affiliated with the chapter, who put in 48,647 hours in this work during the year. These included all kinds of wearing apparel, layettes, layette quilts, etc., besides bed jackets, pajamas, and the like for hospital patients.

In the knitting department, Mrs. Robert Garland reports 423 knitted garments were made for the army and navy, according to their specifications, which included sweaters, helmets, mitts, mufflers and the like, as well as a number of corded gloves for handling burning materials. In addition, 10,080 civilian garments were knitted. The making of these required 161,124 hours by the women engaged in knitting work.

The surgical dressing units, of which Mrs. Walter W. Duff is chairman, and Mrs. Norman A. Martin, co-chairman, produced the tremendous total of 288,442 surgical dressings for the use of the men in service of this country and its allies.

There are 300 women engaged in the production of surgical dressings, who work an average of three hours per day, and who have been on the job day in and day out except for Sundays and holidays throughout the year. The number of hours was not compiled, but it would be a large one, the women believe. This year, the ladies engaged are punching time cards, to keep track of the hourage.

Howard Renner has left for army camp; he is the son of Mrs. Anna Renner.

Charles Clemmer called on Dawn Manley in East Palestine, Ohio, Thursday.

Mrs. Howard Marshall and Mrs. Calvin Marshall were in Youngstown, Monday.

Mrs. and Mrs. Ernest Gordon and Mrs. Calvin Marshall shopped in East Palestine on Saturday.

Miss Nora McLaughlin returned to her home in Youngstown after a short visit with relatives here.

Tom Sullivan will return to work next week, after being confined to his home with an infected hand.

Walter Clemmer and family have moved from the farm of Mrs. Laura Riddle to the Lyons farm at Unity, O.

Rev. Smith of Ellwood City will speak at Community Hall at 8 p. m. tonight. His subject will be "Christianity in Japan."

Mrs. Elta Trudal was called to Pittsburgh Saturday on account of the serious illness of her brother-in-law, John Bonhart, Sr.

We'd better have a clear program, for broke and jobless millions will be apt to like the Communist idea of taking it from the rich.

FRIDAY—"ANDY HARDY'S DOUBLE LIFE"

Parish Meeting And Dinner At Trinity Church

Elect Church Officers And Hear Yearly Reports At Meeting Monday
Evening

Election of vestry and other church officers took place at the annual parish meeting and dinner held in the guild room of Trinity Episcopal church Monday evening.

After the dinner, there was a period of group singing and entertainment led by Lewis Pearsall, who played the violin, and E. E. Branstetter, who was at the piano. A double quartet selected from those in attendance, sang several selections. There were about 160 persons present at the meeting and dinner.

Those elected to the vestry are: William B. Howe, Hon. John G. Lamore, Walter W. Duff, elected for a three-year term. Lloyd W. Strayer was appointed senior warden by the rector, Rev. Robert M. C. Griswold. Others are: Robert M. Garland, junior warden; L. J. Lewis, secretary of vestry; William B. Howe, treasurer; Miss Nancy Bechtol, financial secretary.

Expressing the appreciation of the parish, the rector presented Miss Bechtol with gifts from the group in recognition of her work in the church during the past year. Flowers were also presented to Mrs. Howard Kley in appreciation for her work as chairman of the Woman's Guild which arranges the dinners, and to Miss Eleanor Colgan and Mrs. Lewis Pearsall for their work in the church.

In the rector's report, it was noted that much progress has been made during the past year with the ten thousand dollar debt which had stood on the church many years having been entirely paid. This is the first time since 1897 that the church has been debt-free. The rector also expressed gratitude to the congregation for the "everlasting teamwork of each individual, for without that, there could have been no year of progress."

Reports of the various organizations were also presented at this meeting and all showed interest and progress during the year.

HITLER'S FEAR OF JUNKER CASTE PROVED BY PURGE

The appalling death toll in 1942 of German nobility officers bears out the fact that Hitler is deliberately ordering the sons of the Prussian aristocracy to dangerous front-line assignments, thus purging the Army of an element of which he's always shown distrust. Before the war began, it was an open secret among the "high born" Junker caste that if defeat should ever befall the Third Reich, they would turn Hitler over to the enemy to take the full brunt of responsibility and then put themselves in power to restore order, and ascend to the former prestige. Among the numerous high-ranking aristocrats "killed in action" are Field Marshal Walter von Reichenau, top left; Gen. Herbert von Bismarck, center; General von Kleist, right; Gen. Werner von Fritsch, lower left, and Maj. Gen. von Gablentz.

MODERN BELLROWS

(International News Service)

RANDOLPH FIELD, Texas.—The skilled enlisted men who keep Link Trainers in order at the West Point of the Air are blacksmiths in no sense of the word, but nevertheless, they are vitally interested in bellows. Thirty-one bellows constitute the innards of the $12,000 ground-locked devices in which the flying cadets learn night and blind flying techniques. When the student moves the trainer's controls, valves release air from the bellows on which the cockpit is mounted, causing the ship to simulate the movement of an actual plane in the air. Constant attention is given the bellows by special crews of maintenance men.

DON'T WAIT 'TIL TOO LATE! YOU MAY LOSE YOUR RIGHT TO DRIVE UNLESS YOU HAVE YOUR TIRES INSPECTED!

WE ARE OFFICIAL TIRE INSPECTORS

Your government wants you to keep your car in good running condition. That's why Mileage Rationing Regulations require that all tires MUST be inspected before February 28th. Unless you comply, you may lose your right to drive.

And don't wait until the deadline. There's sure to be a rush... with delay and inconvenience. If you come in NOW it will take only a few minutes instead of hours in line.

Don't take chances on anything as precious to you and your country as rubber. Come in today and make SURE your tires are safe and sound. Total on-the-wheel inspection cost of 5 tires—25c. (Additional charge where demounting is necessary.)

YOU PAY ONLY 25¢ FOR ALL 5 TIRES

Save gas! . . . Save rubber! . . . with the B. F. Goodrich Speed Warden

HERE'S HOW IT WORKS: Easily installed, it fits any accelerator as shown. The Speed Warden is then adjusted to 35 miles an hour. It reminds you not to "step on it" in starting—or when driving.

NO SPEEDOMETER WATCHING. When 35 m. p. h. is reached, the base of the Speed Warden comes in contact with the floor board. You know, without looking, that you've reached the 35 m. p. h. limit.

IF YOU NEED MORE POWER, for hills or emergencies, just press your foot a little harder, and get the speed you need. The Speed Warden is a reminder—not a governor. It leaves you full engine power to use when needed.

$1.00 Slight extra charge for installing

WAR-TIME DRIVING HABITS INCREASE BATTERY STRAIN

Standing still actually wears an automobile battery out. And naturally you drive today only when it's absolutely necessary. So, with the car idle for days at a time, your battery can't get recharged. That leaves it weak, unable to take the strain of modern driving.

Now, at all times you need long-lasting power of a B. F. Goodrich GLASSTEX. This battery is the best money can buy. Guaranteed for 24 months.

HARLANSBURG UNION

Mrs. Pearl Reynolds entertained members of the Harlansburg W. C. T. U. at her home Thursday afternoon, January 14.

After a short devotional period, Mrs. Mae Locke had charge of the following program: Topic, "Religious Education"; opening song, "Some Glad Day"; responsive reading followed by song, "Let the Beauty of Jesus Be Found in Me"; readings, "The Alcohol Problem, Past and Present"; introductory, Mrs. Alice McKisick; "The Example of the Home"; Mrs. Gertrude Euton; "The Teaching of the School"; Mrs. Lovella McFarland; "The Regeneration of the Church"; Mrs. Emma Malinak; "The Legislation of the State"; Mrs. Pearl Rodgers; "Where to Stop Waste"; Mrs. Leona Flack; "A Challenge for Temperance Workers"; Mrs. Lillian Locke; "Will the Church Meet the Challenge"; Mrs. Alice Davidson; "Religion in the Home"; Mrs. June Mack; "Faith, Hope and Victory," excerpts from annual address of Mrs. Ida B. Wise Smith, national W. C. T. U. president, discussed by Mrs. Helen Cameron.

Mrs. Cameron had charge of the business meeting, after which lunch was served by the hostess and her aides.

Because of gas rationing, it was decided to hold the family night meeting on February 11 in Harlansburg, instead of at Liberty Grange hall.

SLEEPY ROCK

The Slippery Rock W. C. T. U. met at the home of Mrs. Jessie Hunt Thursday evening for their regular monthly meeting. Mrs. Olive Forbes led devotions, and after Scripture reading and a number of sentence prayers, the following program was given:

Topic, "Religious Education and Evangelistic Reading 'The Pledge'"; Mrs. Hazel McCracken; "Alcohol

Education in the Church"; Mrs. Venetta Kildoo; "Selling Membership"; Mrs. Jennie White; "Spiritual Life versus the Liquor Traffic"; Mrs. Jessie Hunt; "On Memory's Canvas"; Rebecca Forbes; "Life of Frances Willard"; Mrs. Olive Forbes.

The business meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Tilly Book. The Loyalty luncheon, held today in the Second U. P. church, was announced. The meeting closed with the Lord's Prayer.

In serving lunch the hostess was assisted by Mrs. Jennie Walton, Mrs. Hazel McCracken and Mrs. Elmer Harlan.

Two visitors, Mrs. Ella Naugle and Mrs. Elmer Harlan, were present.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Helen Biddle on February 11 at 2 p. m.

FRANCES WILLARD UNION

Frances Willard W. C. T. U. met Friday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Clarence Aiken, 209 Fairfield avenue, with the president, Mrs. C. N. Moore, in charge.

The meeting opened with: Song by group, "World Peace"; devotions, Mrs. W. J. Holmes, "Keys to the Kingdom"; song by group, "The Twenty-third Psalm"; Mrs. Summers received as a new member.

Plans were made to attend the loyalty luncheon at the Second United Presbyterian church on Tuesday, January 19, at 12:30 o'clock. Rev. Fallon of Pittsburgh will speak. The quilt that the group has been working on for some time has been sold and a nice sum realized for the educational fund of W. C. T. U. work.

After roll call was answered with a favorite verse of scripture, Miss Martha Dodds reviewed the book, "God in Our Public Schools," written by Dr. W. S. Fleming of Chicago.

Tea was poured by Mrs. C. N. Moore and Mrs. R. N. McMurney at an attractively decorated table. Aiding the hostess were Mrs. Oscar Rhodes, Mrs. W. J. Holmes, Mrs. Robert McMurney, Mrs. G. C. Aubel and Mrs. W. H. Humphrey.

Next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. E. L. Young, 734 East Washington street, on February 19, with

Mrs. Joseph Riley as leader and Mrs. R. H. McConahy as devotional leader. The subject will be "Health and Medical Temperance."

ENERGY UNION

Energy W. C. T. U. will meet in the home of Mrs. M. B. Hogue on Wednesday, January 20, at 2 o'clock with Mrs. Collins as leader.

EAST BROOK W. C. T. U.

Members of the East Brook W. C. T. U. will meet Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Harry Kelly.

GRADUATE NURSES GET STATE R. N. DEGREES

Mrs. Roderick Edwards, Misses Helen Allen, Marjorie Harris, Charlotte Hake, Ethel Mae Bahr, Norma Donata, Eleanor Book, Sally Hares, Barbara Wolfslagel, Carrie Padula and Virginia Sveszko, who are members of the Jameson Memorial graduating class of June, 1942, this week received their registered nurse degrees for the state of Pennsylvania.

MCBRIDE POST TO MEET WEDNESDAY

Corp. Harry L. McBride Post No. 522, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will meet in the post home on West Grant street Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock for the regular post meeting.

Representative Of W. P. B. Will Be In City Wednesday

As an aid to small industries and farmers, a representative of the War Production Board will be in the Greater New Castle Association office Wednesday from 10 a. m. until 4 p. m. to discuss priorities. His presence here will obviate the necessity of going to Pittsburgh to get priority problems straightened out.

Farmers who are interested in getting new machinery next spring will have problems which will come under the jurisdiction of this representative and small industries are constantly faced with priority problems.

If the need is shown to exist the W. P. B. man will be here every Wednesday for a time in order to serve as many as may need service.

FIREMEN CALLED

City firemen were called to the home of D. B. Alexander, 120 Smithfield street, at 10:44 o'clock, this morning, when soot caught fire in the smoke pipe and heated the pipe red hot. No action was required of firemen.

BUSINESS COLLEGE

Your success in life will be largely determined by the type, quality, and character of your training, together with advice and training of the training agency. New Strategy Is Considered

Believe Important U. S. Great Britain Developments Being Planned

By KINGSBURY SMITH
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Reports were current in Washington today that important developments are impending as a result of discussions which have taken place between the United States and Great Britain. These discussions are believed to have touched upon the question of determining the next major move in allied strategy.
They are also believed to have considered methods of combatting the Nazi submarine menace.
In connection with future grand strategy, the view prevails in some allied diplomatic quarters in Washington that the United Nations should consider the question of concentrating their forces in an all-out attack on Japan before Germany is completely knocked out of the war.
This suggestion for a possible change in allied grand strategy is understood to have been prompted by the fear that when Germany has finally been defeated, the peoples of the allied countries in Europe may be so war weary that there will be little enthusiasm for a continuation of the war in the Pacific.

Eleven Killed In B-24 Bomber Crash

(International News Service)
ALOMOGORDO, N. M., Jan. 19.—Officials at Alamogordo Army Air Base today announced that 11 men were killed in the crash of a B-24 bomber Sunday, 10 miles north of the field.
A board of officers was to meet today to investigate the crash, the second in two weeks. A week ago 10 men from the Alamogordo base were killed as a plane crashed while taking off.

It seems indeed to be cheerful about the war. Even a little victory means hundreds of mangled bodies lying in the mud.

State Assemblymen Propose Study Of Post-War Planning

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Jan. 19.—A 15-member commission was proposed today by Rep. Robert D. Fleming, Allegheny Republican, to study post-war economic planning.
Rep. Arthur P. Brethrick, Delaware Republican, sponsored a similar bill calling for the establishment of an eight-member committee. Republican leaders refused to indicate whether the measures bore the stamp of approval of Governor Edward Martin, who has recommended creation of a post-war planning agency.
Both proposals called for a broad program of public works after the war, including possibly flood control, anti-stream pollution, aviation fields, slum clearance, housing, parks and railroad grade crossing elimination.

O. P. A. Takes Action Against Meat Firm

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 19.—Using its power of criminal prosecution for the first time in the meat racket, the Office of Price Administration today had filed 13 bills of complaint against the Consolidated Beef Co., of Philadelphia, two of its officers, and three salesmen.
OPA agents said evidence against the firm was gathered by the use of "marked money" paid by two butchers in a five-cents-a-pound shake-down.

Walter N. Moldawer, OPA attorney, said the maximum penalty of 13 years in prison and a $65,000 fine will be asked if the defendants are convicted.
Previously the OPA had used civil injunctions instead of criminal prosecution.

How to Make a Splendid Cough Syrup at Home
A Big Saving, and It's So Easy! No Cooking!
Cough medicines usually contain a large quantity of plain syrup—a good ingredient, but one which you can easily make at home. Take 2 cups of granulated sugar and 1 cup of water, and stir a few moments until dissolved. No cooking! No trouble at all. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup. Then get from your druggist 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. This gives you a full pint of truly wonderful medicine for coughs due to colds. It makes a real saving for you, because it gives you about four times as much for your money. It lasts a long time, never spoils, and children love it. This is actually a surprisingly effective, quick-acting cough medicine. Promptly, you feel it taking hold. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes and makes breathing easy. You've never seen anything better for prompt and pleasing results. Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, a most reliable, soothing agent for throat and bronchial membranes. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

Scientist To Talk On Longer Lives

Dr. William Malisoff Will Address Executives Club On Wednesday Evening

DR. WILLIAM M. MALISOFF

Dr. William M. Malisoff, one of America's foremost scientists, will address members of the New Castle Executives club on Wednesday evening, at the monthly dinner meeting in The Castleton, on a subject which should prove of vital interest to the membership and their ladies.

Brilliant, young and witty, possessing a world-wide reputation as an authority on problems of lengthening human life, author of "The Span of Life," and editor of the Philosophy of Science magazine, which includes many famous scientists on its staff, Dr. Malisoff is an outstanding example of the modern scientist in this modern age of science.

He has made the lengthening of human life his great study, and believes that the future may postpone death many years. He will discuss this thought at the dinner meeting tomorrow evening.

Natural Gas is vital to war production

Natural Gas for war industry

The rising line tells the story of Natural Gas in industry since 1938, how it rose 126 per cent in three years, how in 1941 alone it rose 68 per cent, how it has leveled in 1942 chiefly because most plants are now—and have been—operating at peak capacity.

Although nationally 25 per cent of all Natural Gas is going into war production, here in this district the figure is at least 50 per cent—which shows what a vital material for victory Natural Gas here has become.

To provide this tremendous Natural Gas supply for war and still maintain normal commercial and domestic service has called for new wells, new pipe-lines, new compressor stations, and record-breaking reserves of Gas in nearby storage pools underground.

The important thing, therefore, is to conserve this valuable fuel and help protect our reserves for very cold days with a minimum use of critical materials.

Rotarians Hear Musical Program

Entertainment Is Provided At Weekly Luncheon Monday Noon

Rotary club members heard a splendid musical program at their weekly noon luncheon meeting in The Castleton, Monday, as a relaxation from the previous week's heavy debate on past war problems, the program having been arranged by DeLace Cole.

Accord numbers were rendered by Silvia Graziani, while old time melodies were rendered by a quartet consisting of W. A. Hoffmaster with the fiddle, Harry Sheppard, banjo; DeLace Cole, bones; and Erma Branstratter at the piano.

A male quartet, consisting of Arthur Harris, Dave Rees, Russell P. Rhodes, and Leonard Kishhart, entertained with several fine quartet numbers.

At the conclusion of the program, Richard E. Rentz, presented A. R. Heisman, with a useful gift, in appreciation of the fact that he has recently become a father.

AROUND CITY HALL

Traffic is lighter now than a month ago according to Traffic Lieutenant Thomas Jones. He also said he anticipates a sharp drop in parking meter receipts. The city in compiling the 1943 appropriations estimated the city would collect as much money from meters as were collected in 1942 which amounted to about $24,000. However, since the tire, gasoline and pleasure driving rule became effective, Finance Director Albert Hoyland is not quite so sure this amount will be received.

Chief of Police Willis G. McMullen who recently underwent a serious operation is now permitted to take short walks and his many friends are glad to see him around. During his absence his duties have been in charge of Detectives' Chief R. A. Criswell.

Louis Genkinger, Paul Butz and Charles McGill have been appointed as members of the Board of Appeals, City Zoning Commission. They were recommended by Councilman J. D. Alexander and named unanimously by council. They serve free.

Young Progressives Honor Men Of Club

Members Departing This Week To Assume Duties In U. S. Army-Navy

Young Progressives members gathered in the club rooms, South Mill street, Sunday evening, honoring several members who are leaving this week for duties in the U. S. Army and U. S. Navy.

They are: Marshall Ruscetti, who departed for duties in the U. S. Army, and Paul DeVitto and Agie Gesue, who have enlisted with the U. S. Navy.

Various speakers were heard during the evening, and approximately 70 members were present. Useful gifts were presented to the honorees, in behalf of the club. Nick Gesue, ex-venerable made the presentation. Joseph Cozza, president, was in charge as master of ceremonies.

On Thursday evening, January 21, a social meeting will be held, and on February 7, the annual election of officers will take place.

Basketball Card Here Tonight Attractive

'Canes-Ambridge, 'Hounds-Bessemer In Feature Games

Setback Will Eliminate New Castle From Section III Derby; Tussle Starts At About 8; Bridgers Favored To Succeed 'Canes As Loop Titlist; Fracas At Bessemer Tops Section 20 Card; Wampum At East Brook; Mt. Jackson-Shenango Game Is Postponed.

After offering a string of ordinary attractions during the past several weeks, gentlemen in charge of the local basketball mart tonight present a program that should provide more action than an irate egg beater.

Despite the OPA driving proscription, a "boom crowd" is expected to watch two of the main events, Ambridge's meeting with New Castle on George Washington floor and New Wilmington's date at Bessemer high.

Down in the Section III standing but up in spirits, New Castle high's 'Canes come up to their "do or die" assignment against the valley giants. The rivals start their salvo of shots at about 8 o'clock.

Bridgers Talented
The Bridgers haul an impressive record into the court. Several district headlines have been unable to match Ambridge's technique. In loop competition, the visitors have routed New Brighton and a classy Ellwood City quintet without having to turn on the juice. And rate a heavy favorite to cop the league banner.

Whipped in two tests, against Aliquippa and Beaver Falls, the 'Canes either remain in the running by toppling Ambridge, which would shake cage pillars throughout western Pennsylvania, or play out their string without a chance to journey to the WPIAL party.

Coach Bridgerhough has his fingers crossed, hoping that his pupils pull out one of the most disastrous slumps to ever hit the 'Canes. The chart shows one victory against six setbacks, the last five in consecutive order.

Have Outside Chance
Playing on the home court and listed as a tough nut to crack on the north hill plant, the locals rate an outside chance of bursting the Bridgers' balloon.

LINEUP		Ambridge
New Castle	F.	Osso
Andrews	F.	Shenylia
Jacobs	F.	Ulnski
Zubkowsky	C.	Laniewski
Razzano	G.	Modrovick
Burris	G.

Andrews and Jacobs are listed for forward duty with John Zubkowsky due to perform at center. Razzano and Burris are slated to receive the guard assignment.

One of the biggest galleries of the season is expected to leg it or hop a bus for what promises to be a rip snorting basketball party filled with all the thrills characteristic of the fast game.

Beaver Falls plays at Aliquippa in the other sectional tilt.

Callura N. B. A. Feather Champ

Dethrones Pittsburgh Jackie Wilson In 15-Round Battle Monday

(International News Service)

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Jan. 19.—Jackie Callura, rugged 125½ pound Canadian from Hamilton, Ont., today held the new National Boxing Association version of world feather-crown championship.

The crown fell from the head of Pittsburgh Jackie Wilson, 125½-14 pounds, who lost eight rounds of a 15-round battle last night in the Rhode Island auditorium before 7,000, who cheered the unanimous decision of officials.

Callura was 7 to 4 underdog in the battle. He took a beating in the infighting, landed only about one-tenth of the blows thrown, and was charged all over the ring during late rounds. When his blows did land, however, they had great effect.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

Colonel Matt J. Winn has full faith in the future of the United States. This was evident when he announced that the money added by the Churchill Downs for the 69th running of the Kentucky Derby on May 1, would be $75,000—exactly the same as in the less bleak years of 1940-42 inclusive.

Unless the government bans horse racing, which is quite unlikely, said Colonel Winn to Frank G. Menke, well known sports authority. "The Derby will be run on scheduled date, even if only two horses go to the post, and even if the crowd does not exceed a half dozen persons."

"The derby originated during my boyhood in 1875. It was carried on by others, year after year, until I took over control in 1903. It has been run year after year despite wars, depressions and catastrophes of different kind. It has endured and become steeped in tradition where other races either have been abandoned or slipped into certain obscurity."

The venerable colonel does not anticipate for the 1943 Derby anything approaching the enormous crowds of other Derbies when attendance estimates ranged between 80,000 and 100,000. In those years great many of the patrons came from all parts of the U. S., Canada, Cuba, South America, Europe and some came from Australia.

This year, with gasoline rationed and civilian travel on trains and in planes greatly curtailed because of military preference, the likelihood is that the Derby crowd will be made up chiefly of Louisvillians and folk from nearby Kentucky, Ohio and Indiana communities. Anybody can make a guess as to the probable attendance but the attendance is secondary. The main point is that the Derby has never lapsed, and said the colonel, "my fondest hope is that nothing will interrupt its perpetuation."

Mrs. Jack Dempsey, the former Hannah Williams, singer, has asked the New York supreme court, sitting at White Plains, for temporary alimony and counsel fees pending trial of a divorce suit brought by former heavyweight boxing champion, Lieutenant Commander Jack Dempsey. The trial will be heard in February. Jack made a couple million dollars during a boxing career which carried him from a western ring to the title at Toledo.

Lloyd Brazil, graduate manager of athletics at the University of Detroit has been named athletic director. Boxing has been shifted from night to day at Wierston so that night shift workers may enjoy fistfights Friday. We're indebted to Attorney Bob Huxley Youngstown for a copy of Collection of Beau Jack stories, compiled by Louis Boun, president of the Brush-Moore News-Papers, Salem, O. Beau Jack is "owned" by a squad of men who, having faith in his ability, invested various amounts to help him climb the pugilistic ladder which he has done successfully. He fights Fritz Zivic in New York soon.

The Philadelphia Phils has acquired William Anske, a catcher with Nerbeth in the Main Line league last year. He caught for Warren, O., last year, is a native of Altoona and is in 3A in the draft. The Carmen Notch-Bumby Davis fight scheduled for next Tuesday in Pittsburgh, has been cancelled. First, Bumby became ill and now Carmen has the flu, according to reports.

Jimmie Dykes, manager of the White Sox underwent the knife for a gall bladder complaint yesterday in Hollywood. His condition is good. The writer would like to know the address of Ruffles Johns whom we last heard from as in Panama. "Chuck" Mort, 2-c seaman is also stationed in Panama.

John Donnell, brother of the Duquesne coach, has been commissioned a second lieutenant in the anti-aircraft artillery division of the Army.

Pistol Scholars Hear Gun Crack For Initial Time

Sportsmen's Revolver Club Pupils Are Graduated; Join Firing Line

To most of the 48 students attending the small arms firing school sponsored by the Sportsmen's Revolver club at the Cathedral range, the crack of the pistol and smell of powder smoke was a new experience last Tuesday night.

With preliminary lectures, demonstrations and exercises behind them, the students took to the firing line with 22 caliber military-type pistols and put into practice the principles learned in the classroom.

Scores Announced
Scores for the first night of actual shooting were: Matthews 25, H. Thompson 25, Joe Thompson 62, Messner 38, Walters 49, Ed Corbin 73, Kilbreath 83, Bratche 55, Sinitko 76, Keane 29, Magee 49, Shields 64, Reese 25, Kelly 54, Hoagland 78, McKee 82, H. Schweinsberg 78, Phipps 78.

There is a meeting scheduled for tonight at 7:30 o'clock. The range will be open at 7:00 o'clock for anyone wishing to enroll in the school. Secretary Schweinsberg today called attention to club bulletin Vol. 5. No. 1, as of January 1, National Rifle association which read: P. A. Under the rulings of the O. P. A. coaches and students at Civilian Small Arms Firing Schools which have been properly organized and are operating with the official approval of the National Rifle Association and Director of Civilian Marksmanship, War Department, may legally drive to the range where the school is being held. Even spectators may stop at the range, provided they stop en route between their places of employment and their homes and provided the range is not an unreasonable distance off their regular route.

Harridge-Frick Meet Wednesday

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Jan. 19.—William Harridge, American league president, will leave for New York today to meet with Ford Frick, National league president, to complete work on the new schedules for both circuits. It was announced today.

The conference, which will get underway Wednesday, is necessary to dovetail certain portions of the schedules where cities have places in each league. The work is expected to be completed in one or two days.

ENTERS FIELD

CLINTON, N. Y.—Hamilton college enters the intercollegiate swimming field for the first time this winter with a team coached by Mark Randall, Springfield college graduate, facing a six-meet schedule. Completion in 1941 of a new $400,000 gymnasium and swimming pool together with appointment to the faculty of Randall, for many years coach of Troy's crack municipal swimming team, has led to adoption of the sport as the 11th on Hamilton's intercollegiate program.

JOE WON'T TALK ABOUT ENLISTING

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 19.—Joe DiMaggio, New York Yankee fence-buster, visiting Los Angeles today, refused to confirm reports that he would enlist in the army air corps at nearby Santa Ana air center.

"My draft board is in San Francisco," the outfielder said, somewhat hotly. "It's up to my draft board."

DiMaggio "kissed and made up" with his wife last week in Reno where she had pitched camp the second time.

Mrs. DiMaggio and their child were accompanying the ballplayer today.

Lulu Constantino Wins Over Lunny

(International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 19.—Lulu Constantino, the New York lightweight, today had another ring victory to his credit. He won a ten-round decision over favored Ray Lunny of San Francisco last night. Constantino at 128.

The fight was fast from the opening bell and Constantino's victory was popular with the $11,000 house.

FINISHED UNBEATEN

MADISON, Wis.—The University of Wisconsin's freshman football team, in its first year of intercollegiate competition in Badger sports history, came through with a clean slate. The Badger frosh team defeated Northwestern university 20 to 0 and then came through with the same score against Minnesota yesterday to roll up a total of 40 points against their opponents' zero in the two-game season.

SIX TEAMS TIED FOR FIRST PLACE IN CHURCH LOOP

St. Vitus And First Presbyterians Garner Triumphs Monday Night

A half dozen teams are sharing first place in the New Castle church basketball league second half race. St. Vitus, first half title winner, rolled up its second triumph, last night at the Y. M. C. A. by thumping St. George, 54-25. The First Presbyterians battered Tifereth Israel 41-30, the loss being the 12th in a row for the Jewish lads.

In an added attraction, the Wesleyans fell before the Miltons, 32-29. DeLillo and J. Ross sparked the St. Vitus assault with 29 markers while P. Hrisolous, with a dozen points, was outstanding for the Greeks.

Wilson and Remaley led the way for the First Presbyterians. Izzy Solomon, starred for the Israel team, bagging 13 points.

Because there are only 11 teams competing in the circuit, one of the quintets will face non-league opposition on every league night.

Today, St. Vitus, First Presbyterians, Wesleyans, Central Christians, Second U. P. and Epworths are stationed on top.

The lineups:

FAIR OR FOUL
By LAWTON CARVER
INS Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—Bits picked up along the sports trail. Mixed news of good fortune and calamity is streaming out of the front offices of the Yankees, Dodgers and Giants, now that contracts are being mailed to what players the war has left. The annual chorus of the injured and impoverished ball players' society, composed of those sportsmen of the diamond who claim they are not being paid enough in these times of high prices and higher taxes, is going to be as loud as ever. But the baseball execs will argue that there is a war on, and will probably pin any lowering of salaries on this cause.

Venzke Steps Out
Gene Venzke, 33-year-old Penn performer, will step out of a brief retirement next month by competing in the half-mile in the Millrose games. Before the war, Gene was in the insurance business, but returned to his old trade of machinist, and is now making guns.

Although he has met them all in track competition, and left most of them eating his dust, Gene won only one race last year. He's training on the rough Pennsylvania back roads. If the S. S. Lou Gehrig delivers as many shells to the Allies for use against the Axis as Lou played ball games, plenty of zing could be taken out of the foe's sneak punches. 2,130 shells mean enough steel to keep the enemy running for a couple of days, and 2,130 games signify the streak of games played by the man who would be helping us, if he were alive today.

Crowds at the Fairgrounds race track in New Orleans are small, but growing steadily. Most of the pool rooms are still getting the (Continued On Page Thirteen)

GROVER ALEXANDER IS ARRESTED, FINED

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Jan. 19.—Grover C. Alexander, 55, former major league baseball pitcher, today was charged with a charge of disorderly conduct which cost him $30 for failing to appear before Judge Victor A. Kula.

The fine of $15 and $15 in costs was imposed yesterday when Alexander failed to return from Milwaukee to answer the charge. He had been out on bail in order to continue his lecture tour.

Fistic Fans Face Long, Hard Winter

By JACK MAHON
(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—It looks like a long, hard winter for the fight fans of this village.

As if it weren't enough that most of them went broke backing big favorites like Sgt. Jackie Wilson and Mexican Joe Peralta at The Garden last Friday night they realize today they have very little to look forward to in weeks ahead.

Promoter Mike Jacobs planned to use Wilson with Ray Robinson, who looks enough like him to be his twin, in February but squatty and lumbering Jacob Barnotta ruined that idea and Wilson's Garden debut by upsetting the 4-1 favorite.

Before going into the affair Wilson was advised that a tip-off on the shape of things to come at The Garden is contained in the latest bulletin from Jacobs' office. Mike has matched Fritz Zivic, Pittsburgh, with Beau Jack, Augusta, Georgia, Feb. 5 and Mello Bettina, Beacon, N. Y., with Gus Lesnevich, N. J., Feb. 26.

Necessity Lone Excuse
There is little excuse for either match—except necessity. Mike simply has no other attractions in mind; his lightweight elimination tourney proved nothing more than a promising idea which sputtered, stumbled and collapsed with a peculiar climax Friday evening when one of the hopefuls of the tourney, The Garden, Ray Robinson knocked him out there a short while back and only a few weeks ago Henry Armstrong whipped Fritz Zivic on the coast. Yet he winds up "on top" at The Garden.

Bettina hasn't boxed since last summer when he met Harry Bobo in Cleveland. Mello is in the army, stationed with the MP patrol in Jersey City while Lesnevich is in the Navy, stationed in New York. There will be absolutely nothing at stake in either bout.

Paragaphs scribbled hurriedly:—

"This strange—but true—that a war creates friendships that otherwise would never come to light. A letter from Ed "Gumbert" Yerrage, a localite wearing the garb of the United States Marines, explains what I mean. . . .

In civilian life, Yerrage, a baseball follower who could tell you a pitcher's name in the Pumphandle loop, ranked among the staunchest admirers of Bob Feller. Pearl Harbor came and Ed hailed his 278 pounds to a recruiting office. . . .

His basic training completed, Yerrage was assigned to the U. S. S. Alabama. Not too many days ago a good looking young man, a figure familiar, was transferred to the same ship. By now you know that Chief Specialist Bob Feller joined the Bama. . . .

HOCKEY ARGUMENT ENDS IN A DRAW

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Jan. 19.—Argument on the green and red lights in Chicago stadium Sunday night gave Detroit a 2 to 2 tie was settled today when Bill Tobin, president of the Blackhawks, announced no protest would be made.

In a stormy session with Referee King Clancy after the game, the Hawks contended that Timekeeper Harvey Johnson couldn't get the green lights, which signal the game, to work, enabling Detroit to ring up the tying goal. The Hawks insisted the game was over two seconds before the tying score was made.

Price Control Is Placed Upon Used Farm Machinery

Fulkman Informed That Ceiling Is Established By OPA On Five Items

All sales of five critical used farm machines, whether made by dealers, auctioneers, or farmers themselves, have been placed under price control by OPA, according to information received by Doris L. Fulkman, chairman of the Lawrence County USDA War Board. This action is designed to relieve farmers from paying excessive prices resulting from rapidly increasing demand.

The machines covered are used farm tractors (except crawler tractors), combines, corn pickers, corn binders, and motor or tractor operated hay balers.

Generally, the maximum prices are 70 per cent and 95 per cent of the list or base prices for the same new equipment, depending on the condition of the equipment when resold.

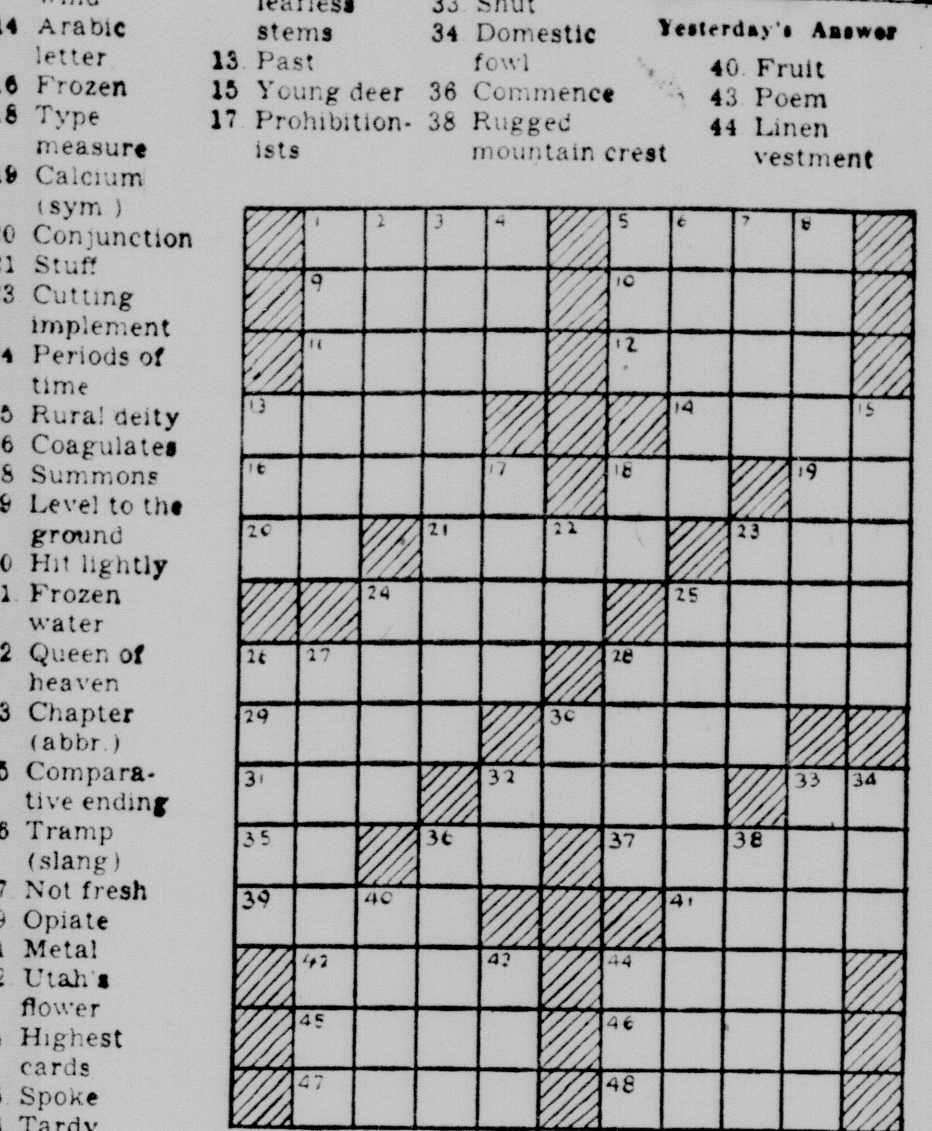

Private owners and auctioneers may not sell used tractors, combines, corn pickers, corn binders and hay balers less than one year old for more than 85 per cent of the base price, and not more than 70 per cent of the base price for such machines more than one year old. The same ceilings apply to sales of these five machines by dealers, except where such machines have been reconditioned and guaranteed for a thirty-day period. In this case the ceiling price is 95 per cent of the base price. Dealers may add actual transportation charges to their maximum prices in sales involving movement of the machines more than 100 miles.

A recent study of prices at farm auctions show instances where sellers obtain as much as 100 per cent profit for equipment several years old.

FROM ME TO YOU
By MESEALL
Watch your step or rather watch your car when you drive along North Jefferson street . . . the top dressing of tar that was put down last fall seems to have dissolved and when the water splashes the tar goes with it. Rather difficult to remove from the body of your pride and joy—the vanishing American car. What caused this is rather difficult to say . . . things happen like that when old mother nature starts to work . . . Just be careful how you splash up North Jefferson street from East Washington to Grant.

Various sections of the city, under the air raid wardens, are starting to notify the householder that a test is on by blowing a home police whistle. When you hear that whistle blackout your home . . . this will save the A. R. W.'s a lot of time . . . here-to-for it was necessary to ring everyone's doorbell . . . with our co-operation the whistle method can be used with great success . . . For your in-while method can be used with great success . . . For your information Mr. Wise Guy who likes to scare people into thinking that an A. R. Test is being held when all is peaceful and quiet, if you go around blowing whistles, things will not go so well with you . . . and don't think that you won't get caught. Every criminal gets caught sometime.

The days are getting longer . . . not much but some. Each day seems to bring more and more comment on concerning the change of our time. More and more want to go back to good old eastern standard time . . . if they really wanted to help the farmer they should talk about turning the clocks back two hours . . . at the least that is what I am told by some mighty good farm men in the county. Well, our talk and yours doesn't do much good . . . if we want to be heard in this world we must raise our voices loud and strong.

Say, how are you coming with your purchase of War Bonds . . . don't tell me you are not buying them now because you think the war is about over . . . we can still lose this war so don't take a chance and stop buying war bonds. Each time you buy a bond you insure your husband or friend in the armed forces against lack of ammunition . . . keep on a buyin', you will never regret it.

The little classified ads that you read on this page can help you . . . raise a little extra cash for added items . . . such as War Bonds. Use this page.

Stock Market

Is Irregular

Changes Generally In Market Prices During Morning Are Minor

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—The stock market turned mixed today after an irregular advance in the first hour. Changes generally were minor and many shares clung to previous closing levels.

Activity picked up slightly during initial trading but tapered off before noon. There was little in the news to provide a guide for traders.

Shares to slip small fractions, included Bethlehem Steel, Sears Roebuck, American Telephone, General Electric, Santa Fe, Public Service of N. J., International Nickel and Douglas Aircraft.

On the other side of the ledger were General Motors, Standard Oil of N. J., Union Pacific, Westinghouse and International Harvester.

The bond market was a steady affair, but trading was dull.

To Introduce Camp Prohibition Bill

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Sen. O'Daniel (D) Tex., announced Monday that he will introduce in the Senate a bill to prohibit sale of intoxicating beverages in and adjacent to any camp where armed forces are quartered.

"This is a time when personal likes and dislikes should be abandoned for the duration," O'Daniel said.

"This bill is strictly a war measure and has no connection whatever with the question of national prohibition."

Your Federal Income Tax

NO. 14 NORMAL TAX AND SURTAX

The Federal income tax payable on the taxable income is divided into two parts, known as normal tax and surtax. The sum of these two taxes, in all ordinary cases, represents the total tax due. The exceptions arise in cases where there have been specified capital gains or losses, in which case an alternative computation is permitted, provided there are net long-term capital gains in excess of net short-term capital losses; or in cases where the taxpayer holds bonds with a tax-free covenant (bonds in which the issuing corporation pays part of the income tax on the interest), in which case a deduction of the amount paid by the corporation is allowable against the tax computable on the return.

The surtax is computed at variable rates, depending upon the amount of the surtax net income. The surtax net income is the amount of the net income of the taxpayer (gross income less deductions) less the personal exemption and the credit for dependents. This is the amount shown on line 23 of the income tax return, Form 1040.

On the first $2,000 of surtax net income, the surtax is 13 per cent of the surtax net income. On surtax net income over $2,000 and not over $4,000, the surtax is $260 plus 16 per cent of surtax net income above $2,000. On surtax net income over $4,000 and not over $6,000, the surtax is $580 plus 20 per cent of the amount of surtax net income above $4,000.

The normal tax is 6 per cent of the balance subject to normal tax, whatever the amount.

For persons filing a Simplified Return, the normal tax and surtax, as well as the earned income credit, have been consolidated into one computation, which is set forth in a table on the back of the return for each size class of income, so that it is necessary only to refer to this table to determine the correct amount of tax due. Any individual whose income for the year is not in excess of $3,000 and was wholly from salary, wages or other compensation for personal service, dividends, interest or annuities, may use a Simplified Return (Form 1040A).

$4,000. The rate increases as the amount of surtax net income increases. The computation of the tax for each income block is given in a table accompanying the return form.

The normal tax is calculated on the "balance subject to normal tax," which is shown on line 26 of the tax return, Form 1040. The balance subject to normal tax is the surtax net income credit, less interest received on certain types of United States government bonds and bonds of Federal instrumentalities, and less dividends on share accounts in Federal savings and loan associations issued prior to March 28, 1942. The computation of the earned income credit is set forth in Schedule E of the return Form 1040, and in Instruction 25 accompanying the return form.

The normal tax is 6 per cent of the balance subject to normal tax, whatever the amount.

For persons filing a Simplified Return, the normal tax and surtax, as well as the earned income credit, have been consolidated into one computation, which is set forth in a table on the back of the return for each size class of income, so that it is necessary only to refer to this table to determine the correct amount of tax due. REINSTATEMENTS GOOD

With the final count before the deadline not yet available, the number of voters who have reinstated themselves after not voting for two years or more stood at 2650 at noon Monday. A few more were expected in the afternoon mail to be tabulated.

If you haven't filled out your reinstatement card which was attached to the notice card, it is now too late. A. Lewis Conn, chief clerk to the Bureau of Registration extended the deadline by nearly a full day, but the extensions are over.

Those voters who received notice of cancellation have only one way to qualify now for the primary elections next September and that is to appear in person and register.

NOTARIES PUBLIC

Register and Recorder Orville Potter received a batch of notaries public commissions on Monday, 23 in all. The commissions must be picked up before the end of the month.

HEAR EQUITY SUIT

Before Judge W. Walter Brahm on Monday the equity suit of the City of New Castle and the Dunlap Company against the New Castle Electric Street Railway was heard again. Each side has filed a suit, the company asking for liquidation of its charter privileges. The city makes several claims against the company arising over the removal of the street car tracks on the city streets.

Sergeant Final Will Leave City

Local Marine Recruiter To Join Marine Raiders At New River, N. C.

SGT. JAMES A. FINAL

Staff Sergeant James A. Final, who has been stationed at the local recruiting office for the past year, will leave here Wednesday morning for Pittsburgh, from whence he will proceed on to New River, N.C., to take up training as a Marine Raider, the commando troops of the Marine Corps.

Sgt. Final came here about a year ago, where he has been popular among a large circle of friends he has made during his stay here. He is a native of Erie, where he played football on the Erie Academy high school team, and also played on the Quantic team of the Marines.

He married an Erie girl after leaving here.

Monday evening, a farewell testimonial dinner was tendered him at The Castleton by Gunners Sgt. Harry T. Burns Post, of the Marine Corps League, when he was presented with a gift by the League as a token of their esteem.

OCD NOTES

Activities Of OCD Workers Are Outlined Here

HOLD AIR RAID DRILL

St. Vitus church air raid wardens held a successful practice air raid drill Sunday. The pastor, Rev. Fr. Nicholas DeMita and his assistant, Rev. Fr. Inteso, were much pleased with the way the drill was conducted. The congregation cooperated 100 per cent. It was announced a drill will be held each month. At an election, Frank Colao was named chief air raid warden of the church and Dominick Clotfi was selected as instructor. It was decided to arrange for social activities with which to raise funds for the purchase of air raid equipment. The names of the air raid wardens of the church follow:

Charles Santello, John Mastrangelo, Joseph Bosco, Nick Martin, Edmond D'Alterio, Jennie DeCarbo, Mary DeLillo, Louis Isabella, Florence General, Rose Fazzone, Concetta Leonardo, Clotilda Ross and Bennie Ciccone. Frank Spinelli is a fire watcher. Andrew Venditto and Frank Mele are auxiliary policemen.

NOT MANY VIOLATORS

Frank Sergeant, chief air raid warden, today announced a list is being made of violators of the last blackout. The list will be small, he explained.

AWAIT SIRENS

City OCD workers have been notified not to put on their arm bands until their hear sirens. Some wore their arm bands before they heard the siren last Thursday night.

STARTING NEW CLASSES

New classes are being started in different sections. A new morning class will get underway Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock in city hall. Workers who cannot attend a night class may attend this meeting. A new class may start tonight in city hall, another in St. Vitus church Friday night and another class at the wardens' post in the seventh ward Monday night.

SHOULD APPEAR FOR OATH

Members of air raid wardens certified but who could take the oath of office, if they already have not done so, are: Mrs. E. H. Browning, 362 Pearson street; Norman Cuspo, 1015 Huey street; Arthur W. Widney, 1014 Becker street, and Lawrence Perelman, 340 East Moody avenue.

TO MEET WEDNESDAY

GOSPEL WORKERS AT MISSION THURSDAY

The editor of the Gospel Herald will be one of a group of four Gospel Workers from Cleveland and Youngstown who will be in charge of a gospel service at the City Rescue Mission Thursday evening.

The Gospel Workers represent one of the largest gospel literature presses in the country, the Union Gospel press in Cleveland, and Superintendent of the City Mission Donald R. Wert anticipates a good attendance for Thursday's meeting.

Bond Quota Through Payroll Deduction Higher This Month

Lawrence County Workers Are Asked To Purchase $625,000 Worth Of Bonds

According to Mott V. Hyde, chairman in charge of the purchase of U. S. government war bonds through the payroll deduction plan, the quota for January has been raised considerably. Workers throughout the county have been asked to purchase $625,000 worth of bonds in this manner this month.

December quota was $478,000 which was greatly exceeded, workers in the county purchasing a total of $598,175 worth of bonds through payroll deductions. This means that workers will have to step up purchases this month if they are to meet the quota.

Employees of a number of firms have not only attained a goal of 10 per cent deductions for bonds, but many have exceeded this percentage. Recent additions to the growing number, included employees of the Pennsylvania Engineering Works and Strauss-Hirschberg Co.

Japs On Kiska Only Shortens Striking For Us

(International News Service)

CHICO, Cal., Jan. 19.—Japan invaded Kiska to "save face" and her continued occupation of that island shortens the distance American planes must travel to strike at Nippon's power.

That was the declaration of Father Bernard J. Hubbard, famed glacier priest of Santa Clara, Cal., who was visiting his brother today in Chico after a tour of army bases in Alaska and the Aleutians.

"The American army and navy could kick the Japs off Kiska any time they wanted to," Father Hubbard said, "but what's the use? It is easier to knock off Japanese vessels on our shores than to go to Japan to do it."

Postmaster General Named Chairman Of Democratic Party

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Jan. 19.—Postmaster General Frank C. Walker was unanimously elected chairman of the Democratic National committee Monday shortly after Edward J. Flynn submitted his resignation "with regret."

"Holcad" Campaigns Against Piggy Bank

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Jan. 17.—In time of war, it's patriotic to shake loose the coppers from piggy banks. "The Holcad," Westminster College campus newspaper, following up recommendations of U. S. Mint officials, is conducting a campaign to have all students rob their piggy banks and other add-change receptacles of hoarded pennies, and put them back into circulation by buying war savings stamps.

Co-eds and collegians are advised to use nail files, knives, or even hammers if the banks are obstinate and refuse to open.

Thrill Was More Than Patriotism

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Jan. 19.—William Morrison, Westminster College senior from Bloomfield, N. J., was turning the dial on his radio when he suddenly heard a familiar voice speaking over the Major Bowes' hour, swearing in new recruits and telling how "men of courage and foresight could serve their country." Bill was quite thrilled, not just because he himself is enlisted in the Naval Reserve, class V-7, but because the man doing the talking was his father, Lt. Commander William C. Morrison, of the United States Navy.

Health Talks

By DR. W. A. WOMER, City Health Superintendent

TIERED

Do you get all tucked out about mid afternoon? Not just a little tired but completely played out? Is it just lately that you have been getting tired?

There may be something wrong. Perhaps you do not eat enough for breakfast. Try to figure on at least 800 calories. Eat an egg and a dish of rolled oats with cream and a slice of bread and butter with jelly or jam. Have a glass of juice and some bacon and a cup of coffee if you like it.

If you have eaten a good breakfast and a good lunch and still get tired, better see your doctor.

One of the first signs of tuberculosis is getting all tired out. Even if you do not work hard, the tired feeling comes just the same. There may be just a little nite of fever in the afternoon. Perhaps you had a cold awhile ago or something like flu.

A careful examination by your doctor will tell the story. If there is no tuberculosis nor anything serious you will be glad.

If he finds early tuberculosis your chances are good.

Tuberculosis is promptly cured if found early and properly treated.

If allowed to progress it is deadly and dangerous. Don't take any chances.
